Made of cast stone in France circa 1920, the figure stands on a round base and depicts a young woman standing gracefully while holding two water jugs, the figure is draped in a flowing garment that softly clings to her form. The details, though softened by age, still convey a sense of elegance and serenity. The statuary sculpture is in excellent condition and adorns a beautiful patinated weathered finish with evidence of outdoor use. A wonderful addition for an outside garden. Weight 65 pounds.
