Dress your dining table with this elegant suite of antique dining chairs. Crafted in Italy circa 1960, the set includes eight armchairs and two slightly larger ones for host and hostess, offering both style and comfort. Each chair features gracefully curved armrests, turned legs, and rounded oval backs, expertly carved to mimic the organic appearance of tree branches adorned with delicate foliage motifs. The natural wood finish enhances the ornate detailing, lending the chairs a gently weathered, timeless charm. The chairs are designed with tall, slightly arched backs and wide seats for added comfort. Both backrests and seats are upholstered with a striking red and tan leopard-print fabric, accented by brass nail head trim for a touch of refinement. The two-tone hand-painted beige and off white patinated finish mimics the texture and warmth of natural wood, further enriching their inspired aesthetic. The ten Louis XVI style chairs are in excellent condition commensurate with age and use. Measures: 24.25"W x 23.5"D x 39.5"H.
