Decorate an entryway with this elegant pair of antique consoles. Crafted in England, circa 1870 and shaped as half moon, each Sheraton style table stands on four tapered legs, each accented with intricate inlaid detailing and ending in square spade feet. The bombe table has a curved apron decorated with marquetry shell rosette medallions at the shoulder. The top is embellished with a delicate oval marquetry shell motif and a parquetry reeded pattern band around the edges, adding a subtle decorative touch. The classic demilune consoles are in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, and adorn a rich patinated polished finish. Their sturdy construction and graceful proportions make them both functional and decorative, ideal for a hallway, or on either side of a mantel. Measures: 47.75" W x 23" D x 30.75" H.
